Dear Ms. Correia:

I am pleased to announce that the Johnson County Livable Community for Successful Aging Policy Board project has been selected as a recipient for the ISAC 2009 Excellence in Action Award in the County Inter-Governmental Category.

The project was awarded the County Inter-Governmental Category award because of Johnson County's leadership role in bringing the various groups together across government and non-governmental units to proactively address issues related to an aging population. This project is certainly an outstanding example of Excellence in Action in our state and local government.

The project will be honored at the 2009 ISAC Fall School's General Session on Wednesday, November 18th. The Fall School is being held at the Coralville Marriott and Conference Center. The General Session is scheduled to start at 3:30 PM. Recipients are requested to check-in at the Fall School's registration desk no later than 3:15 PM.

A single award will be presented to Johnson County to recognize this achievement. Robin Harlow will contact you to obtain a list of individuals involved that will be at the presentation of this award. If you have any questions, please contact Robin Harlow at rharlow@iowacounties.org (or call 515-244-7181).

Congratulations to the Johnson County Livable Community for Successful Aging Policy Board project on being selected as a recipient for this award and I look forward to meeting the group at our ISAC Fall School.

Sincerely,

William R. Peterson
Executive Director
